HISTORY OF GEORGIA SOUTHERN

In 1906, Georgia Southern founders from Bulloch County met with state legislators and leaders from competing counties at the DeSoto Hotel, where they won the bid for the First District A&M School to be located in Statesboro.

In 1924, First District A&M School expanded its mission and became the Georgia Normal School, training teachers at the college level for the first time. By 1959, the Board of Regents changed the school's name to Georgia Southern College, a four-year college with diverse programs.

In 1935, just a half-mile away from the DeSoto, Armstrong was founded at the historic Armstrong House on Bull Street.

In both cases, local leaders like Lonnie Brannen and Albert M. Deal from Statesboro, and Lowry Axley and Thomas Gamble in Savannah, understood the impact that education would have on the workforce and the business prospects of the region, and they put their resources behind their beliefs.

In 1964, Armstrong also achieved four-year college status, and just two years later completed its new campus on the southside of Savannah. The move was controversial to many locals and city leaders because the southside was considered “out in the country.” Back then, Abercorn Extension ended at a barricade right in front of the campus.

However, the move proved to be visionary, and the southside became an integral part of the city in later years.

In 1971, citizens of Emanuel County voted for a $2.1 million bond to fund a new college, while the Emanuel County Board of Education and local leaders secured a 207-acre wooded site in Swainsboro—190 acres donated by Luck Flanders Gambrell. In December 1971, the Board of Regents approved the site and named the institution Emanuel County Junior College.

In 1973, the charter class of 167 students for Emanuel County Junior College began attending classes at the Swainsboro National Guard Armory while campus construction was completed. The following year, students began attending classes on campus.

In 1980, Georgia Southern created its first ROTC program with Mercer University's help. Four years later, the University assumed responsibility for ROTC at Armstrong, and the cadres have been linked ever since.

Today, our ROTC programs draw some of the best and brightest from around the country, and our cadets are ranked routinely among the best in the nation.

With the reinstatement of football in 1982, Georgia Southern began to get noticed on the national stage. During the Eagles run of championships under head coach Erk Russell, enrollment doubled.

By 1988, Emanuel County Junior College was renamed to East Georgia College. Two years later, in 1990, the explosive growth and the hard work of faculty and staff led to Georgia Southern's official designation as a university. Just six years later, Armstrong gained university status as well, and the two institutions expanded their program offerings and regional impact.

In 1997, East Georgia College expanded to include a location in Statesboro on the Georgia Southern University campus.

In 1998, Armstrong worked with Georgia Southern and other USG institutions to create the Liberty Center — now the Liberty Campus — which serves the Hinesville and Liberty County community, as well as the large population of active-duty service members at Fort Stewart, veterans, and their families.

More than a decade later, in 2008, East Georgia College students voted to add an athletics program to include men's and women's basketball, men's baseball and women's fast-pitch softball.

In 2012, East Georgia College officially became East Georgia State College, and the first cohort of students began in the new Bachelor of Science in Biology program, the college's first four-year degree offering.

In 2014, Georgia Southern football moved from the Football Championship Division to the Football Bowl Subdivision and joined the Sun Belt Conference. Most other Georgia Southern Athletics teams also began Sun Belt Conference play in 2014, except for men's soccer, which joined in 2022, and women's rifle and swimming and diving, which compete in the Southern Conference and Atlantic Sun Conference, respectively.

Swainsboro

Liberty

In 2017, Georgia Southern opened EAGLE Academy, an inclusive post-secondary education program that offers Equal Access to Gainful Learning and Employment (EAGLE) to students with an intellectual disability. The two-year certificate program teaches independent living and career skills.

In 2018, Georgia Southern and Armstrong consolidated to become one Georgia Southern University, and is now the largest public university south of Atlanta and the fifth largest in the state. Focused on student success, the University seeks to help our students get the firsthand, experiential training that will help them enter the workforce as leaders in their fields.

In 2019, Georgia Southern University opened its first international learning center in Wexford, Ireland. It is an outgrowth of the long-time collaboration between Wexford and Savannah, and Georgia Southern's Center for Irish Research and Teaching.

In 2021, Georgia Southern established the Fred and Dinah Gretsches School of Music. The couple made a historic gift to the University, along with their personal Gretsches Collection of historic guitars, drums and archives.

In 2025, Georgia Southern University presented its new bald eagle mascot, Freedom II. The mascot was presented during a football game against Coastal Carolina University in Allen E. Paulson Stadium.

In 2026, Georgia Southern University and East Georgia State College consolidated to form a single, unified university. This strategic movement focuses on expanding educational opportunities for students, enhancing support services, and strengthening the long-term stability of our institutions.

POINTS OF PRIDE

Georgia Southern is ranked as an “R2” high-research institution, placing it in the top 6% of all institutions ranked by the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education. The “R2” designation is the second-highest classification for research institutions.

Named a Military Friendly® school for 13 years in a row by VIQTORY Media, publisher of G.I. Jobs, STEM Jobs and Military Spouse magazines. This year, Georgia Southern also garnered a Military Spouse Friendly Schools Gold-level designation in the large public school category.

Georgia Southern was recognized in the Tree Campus Higher Education program through the National Arbor Day Foundation.

The University was designated a 2022 College of Distinction in the categories of Public Universities, Military Support and the State of Georgia.

Jiann-Ping Hsu College of Public Health is ranked first in the nation for a master's degree in public health by SR Education Group.

Georgia Southern's Department of Biology is the largest center for biology research and education in southern Georgia.

The Allen E. Paulson College of Engineering and Computing opened the state of Georgia's first undergraduate Manufacturing Engineering program in August 2015, with the first cohort graduating in 2019. The program is one of only 20 in the nation and one of only three in the southeastern United States.

Intelligent.com named the University No. 1 Best Online Master's in Online Teaching Degree Programs of 2024.

The Armstrong Campus in Savannah was designated as the first college campus in the country to have a collegiate chapter of the National Latina Organization MANA, which represents the interests of Latina women, youth and families in the areas of education, health and well-being, financial literacy, equal and civil rights and immigration reform.

The Eagle Battalion is proud to have one of the largest Army ROTC Nursing programs in the nation.

Georgia Southern's School of Nursing is consistently ranked among the top in the country. The strong relationship between these elite programs has ensured that our nurse cadets receive top quality education and experience while being held to high academic and ethical standards, preparing them to become both Army officers and leaders in the field of medicine.

The Waters College of Health Professions was ranked number one in the 2022 Best Master's in Health Services by Intelligent.com

The Betty Foy Sanders Georgia Artists Collection, one of Georgia Southern University's largest permanent collections, recently celebrated its 58th anniversary. The collection was established in 1967 by former Georgia first lady Betty Foy Sanders, a Statesboro native.

Georgia Southern is ranked as one of the 10 Best "Hidden Gem" Public Universities in the United States on a listing by College Gazette. Unique to Georgia Southern is its first permanent scientific field station, the one-of-a-kind Effingham Wetlands, a 1,400-acre outdoor nature preserve intended for use as a “living laboratory.” Acquired in 2017, students and faculty use the wetlands as a research opportunity for the study and preservation of biology and wildlife. Rounding out its robust natural environment offerings is the school’s Center for Wildlife Education, a program housing 86 species of birds, 67 species of reptiles and 70 species of amphibians.

Georgia Southern’s online programs are consistently ranked among the best in the nation, including the top 10 online universities. These include No. 1 rankings for best online master’s in secondary education, best online doctoral programs, best online colleges in Georgia, best master’s in computer science and best master’s in elementary education. The University also ranked first in online master’s in business administration, master’s in economics, master’s in nursing, respiratory therapy degrees, master’s degree in coaching and sport management.

Georgia Southern is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC). This demonstrates the University’s commitment to the highest educational standards.

According to the most recent University System of Georgia (USG) report, Georgia Southern has an annual economic impact of more than $1.1 billion on the region it serves. The report says Georgia Southern is a significant part of USG’s $20.1 billion economic impact on the state of Georgia.

ABOUT GEORGIA SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

Georgia Southern University is the state's largest and most comprehensive center of higher education south of Atlanta. With 149 degree programs at the bachelor's, master's and doctoral levels, Georgia Southern has been designated a Carnegie Doctoral/R2 university and serves more than 31,600 students from all 50 states, two territories and 140 countries.

With four vibrant campuses — the Statesboro Campus, the Armstrong Campus in Savannah, the East Georgia Campus in Swainsboro, and the Liberty Campus in Hinesville — Georgia Southern offers an attractive campus environment that encourages learning, discovery and personal growth. Georgia Southern is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and has earned special accreditation from professional and academic associations that set standards in their fields.

Emphasizing academic distinction, excellent teaching, research and student success, Georgia Southern enrolls both undergraduate and graduate students through 11 colleges: the Allen E. Paulson College of Engineering and Computing, the College of Arts and Humanities, the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences, the College of Education, the College of Science and Mathematics, the Honors College, the Jack N. Averitt College of Graduate Studies, the Jiann-Ping Hsu College of Public Health, the Parker College of Business, the Waters College of Health Professions, and the newly established University College.

Founded in 1906, Georgia Southern has grown to four campuses: a 900-acre quintessential college setting in Statesboro, featuring Georgian-style, red-brick historic buildings and modern contemporary buildings set amid pines and oaks and home to more than 19,500 students; a 268-acre arboretum campus just minutes away from historic downtown Savannah and a short drive from the sunny beaches of Tybee Island with more than 5,000 students; a nearly 400-acre campus located in Swainsboro, Georgia, also called the "Crossroads of the Great South," with a traditional college setting in a pine forest featuring nature trails and an outdoor oasis that is home to several protected species; and a modern, state-of-the-art facility in Hinesville geared for local and military-affiliated students.

Georgia Southern fields 17 NCAA teams with storied programs that have achieved national accolades on and off the field. In addition to six FCS national football championship flags flying at Allen E. Paulson Stadium, Georgia Southern teams and individuals regularly compete for conference and national honors. In 2014, Georgia Southern moved to the Football Bowl Subdivision's Sun Belt Conference, claiming the Sun Belt crown in its first season in the Conference. In 2015, the team won the 17th GoDaddy Bowl in its first season of bowl eligibility, and won the JLab Birmingham Bowl in 2025. The University's athletics teams include football, men's and women's basketball, baseball, women's volleyball, men's and women's golf, men's and women's tennis, women's indoor and outdoor track and field, women's cross country, women's swimming and diving, softball, men's and women's soccer and women's rifle.

The University also has an active alumni program serving 162,000 alumni around the world. Some of the University's prominent alumni include: Otis S. Johnson, Ph.D., a two-time mayor of Savannah (Armstrong); country music star Luke Bryan; Mike Davis, former executive director of the United States Golf Association; Stratton Leopold, Hollywood producer and local entrepreneur (Armstrong); Hala Moddemog, retired president of the Metro Atlanta Chamber; and Dan Cathy, chairman, president and chief operating officer of Chick-fil-A.

THE SEAL

The Georgia Southern University seal symbolizes the University and its history. The seal depicts the Marvin Pittman Administration Building, which was built in 1907 and anchors Sweetheart Circle, the iconic lawn of picturesque live oaks, magnolias and pecan trees that are indicative of southeastern and coastal Georgia. The Circle's main entrance is featured as a brick-walled gateway, with each side topped by a lamp of knowledge. Three stars symbolize the legacy and traditions of all three campuses that comprise the University and their rich histories — the Armstrong Campus in Savannah, the Liberty Campus in Hinesville and the Statesboro Campus. The year, 1906, indicates the founding date of Georgia Southern University as the First District Agricultural & Mechanical School in Statesboro.

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION AND CHAIN

The presidential medallion and chain, worn by the president of Georgia Southern University as part of the president's academic regalia, symbolizes the University and signifies the authority and responsibility of its highest executive office. Georgia Southern's presidential medallion and chain is a custom-designed, handcrafted work of art.

Professor Christina Lemon and Georgia Southern alumna Madeline Shelor collaborated on the custom design and creation of the medallion and chain using a combination of traditional methods and new technology.

The medallion is a three-and-one quarter inch circular pendant form made from sterling silver and accented with two blue sapphire cabochon stones (smooth rounded stones). The dimensional medallion design features a cast sterling silver relief of the Georgia Southern University seal design. The center of the seal design includes a relief image of the iconic Marvin Pittman Administration building on historic Sweetheart Circle. Encircling the central seal design are stylized oak leaf and acorn motifs, the enduring emblem of strength, stability, honor and longevity. Each oak leaf is crafted in relief and hand engraved. A smaller oak leaf motif continues on the reverse side.

OUR VISION

People. Purpose. Action: Growing ourselves to grow others.

OUR MISSION

Georgia Southern University impacts the future by fostering a transformative learner-centered culture. We empower students, faculty, staff and alumni to lead, serve and engage, enhancing the quality of life through educational excellence, impactful research, cultural enrichment and meaningful contributions to communities locally and globally.

OUR VALUES, I.M.P.A.C.T.S.

Innovation & Discovery: We advance knowledge and foster transformative research through creativity, collaboration and strategic investment, elevating the institution's meaningful contributions to scholarly excellence.

Mobility: We foster economic and social mobility by equipping our people with the skills, knowledge and opportunities needed for career readiness, workforce alignment and meaningful contributions to an ever-changing world.

People: We value the unique contributions of all members of our community, fostering growth, collaboration and success through a commitment to their holistic development and achievement.

Academic Excellence: We are committed to fostering academic excellence by empowering our people through innovative teaching, impactful research and professional development to drive discovery and meaningful contributions to society.

Collaboration: We foster collaboration through shared governance, teamwork and partnerships that promote innovation, collective problem-solving and meaningful engagement across our community.

Transparency & Integrity: We consistently uphold our integrity through accountability, openness, and transparent decision-making, fostering trust to empower our people to make informed decisions.

Sustainability: We value responsible resource management and thoughtful practices that promote resilience, well-being and long-term success for our institution and communities.

ACADEMIC DISTINCTION

GRADUATION WITH HONORS

Undergraduate students, who accomplish a high level of academic achievement, as reflected by their grade point average, receive distinction as follows:

3.5-3.69 Cum Laude

3.7-3.89 Magna Cum Laude

3.9-4.0 Summa Cum Laude

Students graduating with honors are distinguished at commencement exercises by a blue and white honor cord attached to the left shoulder of their gowns. Their distinction is recognized by notation on their diplomas and on their academic transcripts.

HONORS COLLEGE SCHOLARS

The Honors College offers a special Honors curriculum to a select group of academically talented students. In addition to high academic standards, the College requires a substantial commitment to honors coursework and experiential learning activities.

Students who graduate as an Honors College Scholar with Distinction have completed the Honors College requirements and have also completed a research-focused pathway. The diplomas of graduating Honors College Scholars are distinguished by the Honors designation.

NOTE: Since programs are prepared in advance of the receipt of final grades, the listing of candidates and honor recipients may, in some instances, be inaccurate. Also, in addition to GPA, there are other requirements to qualify for graduation with honors. After graduation and all final grades are recorded and all degree requirements are complete, honors are re-calculated and will be added to diplomas and transcripts, if honors are achieved.

THE SYMBOLS OF ACADEMIC TRADITION

MACE

Leading the processional of faculty and administration is the Macebearer, the faculty member holding the rank of Professor with the highest seniority of service at Georgia Southern University.

The mace is a two-and-one-half foot shaft and sphere of cast Everdur bronze and carved American walnut. This representation of the ceremonial symbol of office and authority was designed and crafted in 1988 by Thomas P. Steadman, associate professor of art. Its angular forms and low-gloss finishes are reminiscent of the medieval battle mace from which the more scepter-like academic mace evolved.

The design of the mace blends forms suggested by native flora of south Georgia. The magnolia leaves and stems encircling the head of the mace in a double helix symbolize Georgia Southern's link with its region. A small ballast rock, found on the Georgia coast and traced to probable British origin, is embedded in the finial base of the shaft representing the foundation of the institution.

REGALIA

The academic regalia worn by faculty and administration at today's commencement ceremony traces its origin to that worn by faculty and students at medieval European universities. The gowns and hoods have evolved as ceremonial garments signifying level of degree, academic field, and the awarding institution. Today's gowns for associate, baccalaureate, master's, education specialist and doctoral degrees are custom-designed for Georgia Southern University and are navy blue with white embroidered University seals on the front. Associate and bachelor's gowns have pointed sleeves and are worn closed. The master's gowns, also worn closed, have an oblong sleeve with a base that hangs open at the wrist.

The specialist and doctoral gown is the most elaborate, with a much fuller cut and velvet panels on the sleeves, around the neck, and down the front. These panels may be navy or the color that symbolizes the subject field in which the degree was earned.

The hoods are navy, three and one-half feet long, lined with the official colors of the institution, and trimmed in velvet in the color of the degree field.

Caps in the form of mortar boards are made of cotton poplin or a similar material. The tassel for each graduate will represent the color of their respective degree field.

THE DOUBLE AND TRIPLE EAGLE SOCIETY

The Double and Triple Eagle Society is a joint initiative between the Jack N. Averitt College of Graduate Studies and the Alumni Association of Georgia Southern. The Society recognizes our alumni who have earned two (or more) degrees from Georgia Southern and/or Armstrong State University. Double and Triple Eagles are leaders who not only get the real-world training they'll need to thrive in their careers, but also get involved on campus or in the community, where they learn to invest in others and make their corner of the world a better place to live.

To qualify as a Double Eagle, you must hold one undergraduate and one graduate degree or two graduate degrees from Georgia Southern or Armstrong State University.

To qualify as a Triple Eagle, you must hold one undergraduate and two graduate degrees or three graduate degrees from Georgia Southern or Armstrong State University.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Congratulations, Class of 2026!

Today is more than a ceremony—it's a celebration of every challenge you overcame, every late night spent learning, and every moment you chose growth over comfort. You've reached a defining milestone, and it's an honor to recognize all that you've accomplished.

Your time at Georgia Southern has shaped you in ways both seen and unseen. From classroom excellence to real-world problem-solving, from global explorations to deep campus engagement—you've embraced what it means to be a student of action and purpose. Whether you led student organizations, conducted breakthrough research, or gave back through service, each experience has prepared you to step into the world not just with knowledge, but with impact.

You're not just graduating—you're stepping forward into a future full of promise, carrying the values of Georgia Southern with you. The degree you've earned reflects your grit, your curiosity, and your commitment to something greater. It's also a reminder that you're now part of a lifelong network—one filled with proud Eagle alumni who are making a difference across Georgia, the nation, and the world.

As you move into this next chapter, I encourage you to carry with you a spirit of leadership, generosity, and purpose. Look for opportunities to lift others as you rise, to spark change, and to give back in meaningful ways. In doing so, you'll continue the Georgia Southern legacy of excellence, integrity, and impact.

Congratulations again, Class of 2026. We are incredibly proud of you—and we can't wait to see the future you help build.

Dr. Kyle Marrero

President, Georgia Southern University

People. Purpose. Action: Growing ourselves to grow others!

BERRY ALDRIDGE

Berry Aldridge is a 2016 graduate from Armstrong State University with a BA in English Literature. While on campus, Aldridge was a member of the baseball team, on the President's Fees Committee, and served as the Vice President of the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee. After graduation, Aldridge joined Fans First Entertainment as an intern with The Savannah Bananas. From 2016 to 2020, Aldridge touched every part of the start-up, serving as the Director of Tickets and then Vice President. In 2021, Aldridge stepped down as VP to shift his focus towards helping create and launch the new sport of Banana Ball. Since 2021, Aldridge has served as the Director of Recruiting for Banana Ball, finding, recruiting, and signing players. Today, Berry oversees all players and coaches across the League's six teams, and still serves as the primary recruiter of players. Additionally, in 2021, Aldridge became a licensed Real Estate Agent and has since helped buyers and sellers across the Coastal Empire with over $45 Million in transaction volume.

The Jack N. Averitt College of Graduate Studies was established in 1969 under the leadership of Dr. Jack N. Averitt, a history professor and dean emeritus who served Georgia Southern University for 35 years. The College provides guidance for students in more than 65 graduate degree programs in eight colleges. Through the College, students experience hands-on training and engage in leading-edge research with world-class faculty. The College of Graduate Studies also provides the foundation for the University's graduate program growth and development, and supports excellence in graduate education, and the research and scholarly activities associated with it.

The Allen E. Paulson College of Engineering and Computing is focused on being a nationally recognized leader in engineering, computer sciences and information technology in the areas of student-centric and application-based teaching, research and service. The College trains tomorrow's innovators and entrepreneurs. These students are the problem-solvers who will lead America's fastest-growing career fields. The College's undergraduate curricula are highly interdisciplinary, consisting of innovative application-based courses that build upon and encourage collaboration among existing academic programs. The College provides an excellent education in the classroom, combined with hands-on learning through laboratories, co-ops, internships and student research.

The College of Behavioral and Social Sciences is focused on offering students a variety of enriching opportunities that allow them to excel in the classroom and gain practical hands-on experience through challenging research projects, internships, volunteer work or field experiences. As a result, students develop skills in ethics, critical thinking, problem-solving, creativity and communication that prepare them for rewarding careers, lifelong learning and engaged global citizenship. Graduates will leave Georgia Southern prepared for careers in a diverse range of fields, from social services to psychological services, criminal justice, archeology, public service and fashion design.

The College of Education prepares students to teach, lead, counsel and model lifelong learning. Our students engage in scholarship that provides new pathways to meet the needs of a dynamic, diverse society. The College facilitates access to learning opportunities that are authentic, student-centered and technology-rich. Historically, the bachelor's degree in education is the oldest professional degree at Georgia Southern, and from 1924 to 1955, the entire institution focused exclusively on preparing future teachers. Today, the College prepares future teachers, school psychologists, counselors, school library media specialists, instructional technologists, researchers and leaders through intensive field experiences, cutting-edge technology and research-based instruction.

The College of Science and Mathematics strives for excellence and innovation in undergraduate and graduate research, teaching practice and service to our community. Our College is a leader in producing graduates to meet tomorrow's challenges. Across three campuses, the College boasts state-of-the-art teaching and research labs, an aquatics lab, two microscopy suites, a mass spectrometry suite and additional instrumentation necessary to support our faculty members' diverse research interests and facilitate their numerous collaborations. The College's students can earn degrees in biology, chemistry and biochemistry, geology and geography, mathematical sciences, and physics and astronomy.

The Jiann-Ping Hsu College of Public Health strives to improve health, eliminate health disparities and health inequities of rural communities and underserved populations globally. This is achieved through excellence in teaching, public health workforce development, research, scholarship, professional service and community engagement. The Georgia Southern public health program began in 1998. In 2004, it was established as the Jiann-Ping Hsu School of Public Health and endowed by a generous gift from Dr. Karl E. Peace, in memory and honor of his wife. Students pursuing degrees in the College can concentrate in biostatistics, community health, environmental health, epidemiology, health policy and management, and public health leadership.

EMERITUS FACULTY

President Marrero has recommended to the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia that the following Deans, faculty and staff member be granted emeritus status upon retirement:

DR. ALLEN C. AMASON, Dean of the Parker College of Business and Professor of Management, who will retire August 1, 2026. Dr. Amason holds a BBA from Georgia Southern College (1984) and a PhD from the University of South Carolina Columbia (1993). Dr. Amason brought a wealth of experience to Georgia Southern University, after having previously served in key roles at Mississippi State University and as Department Chair in the Terry College of Business at the University of Georgia. During his distinguished 12-year tenure at Georgia Southern, Dr. Amason made a lasting impact by leading the effort to become a named college, securing successful AACSB accreditation, significantly increasing study abroad and study away programs, and headlining the first four Parker College Galas. His commitment to academic excellence was evident as he supported faculty with summer research funding, created a college journal list, and modeled high standards himself, with his own research earning over 10,000 citations and placing him among the top 2% of scientists globally. Recognizing the importance of preparing students for success, Dr. Amason established the office of experiential learning and championed career readiness activities like Professional Development Day and Parker Career Connections, personally investing in students' futures by teaching the Parker Scholars capstone class and leading corporate visits to Silicon Valley. Dr. Amason set a clear goal of increasing the national reputation of the college, and through his tireless dedication and visionary leadership, he achieved that goal. For these and many other distinguished accomplishments, Dr. Allen C. Amason is deserving of the title of Professor of Management Emeritus and Dean Emeritus of the Parker College of Business.

MS. ANN FULLER, Associate Professor and Head of Circulation and Interlibrary Loan (ILL), who retired from Georgia Southern University March 1, 2026, after twenty nine years of distinguished service to Georgia Southern and Armstrong State University. Ms. Fuller holds a BA from Armstrong Atlantic State University (1988) and an MLIS from the University of South Carolina Columbia (1994). Joining Armstrong's Lane Library in 1997 as Head of Media Services, she later served as Head of Circulation and Associate University Librarian before assuming her final leadership role following consolidation. Ms. Fuller was instrumental in establishing Lane Library's first general-use computer lab and laptop-lending programs, and taking on management of the university's smart classrooms, advancing access to technology and learning resources. A dedicated leader and mentor, she guided teams of faculty, staff and student assistants committed to exceptional service and student success. One of her top priorities and accomplishments was that of advancing a library environment in which every patron and employee felt welcome and fully supported. Her professional contributions extended beyond the university through active involvement in leadership roles with state and national committees including the GOLD/GALILEO Advisory and Conference Planning committees, the Georgia Library Association's ILL Interest Group, and the Association of College and Research Libraries (ACRL). As Principal Investigator, she secured grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities and the American Library Association and was instrumental in attaining Pew Charitable Trusts and The Nature Conservancy grants. For her leadership and enduring commitment to the mission of the University Libraries, Ms. Ann Fuller is deserving of the title Associate Professor Emerita and Head of Circulation and Interlibrary Loan Emerita.

DR. CHRIS B. GEYERMAN, Associate Professor of Communication Arts, who retired January 1, 2026. Dr. Geyerman holds a BA from Utah State University (1983), an MA from Eastern Illinois University (1984), and a PhD from Southern Illinois University (1991). Dr. Geyerman taught courses in media criticism, rhetorical criticism, rhetoric of social movements, rhetoric of international relations, philosophy of communication, general semantics and communication and conflict at Georgia Southern University. His research interests included rhetorical and media criticism, cultural studies, the rhetoric of sports, and the rhetoric of social problems. In addition to serving as our NCAA Faculty Athletics Representative, Dr. Geyerman has been recognized as a University System of Georgia Governor's Teaching Fellow by the Institute for Higher Education at the University of Georgia and has received the Georgia Southern University Award for Excellence in Contributions to Service. For his significant contributions to the institution and our students, Dr. Chris Geyerman is deserving of the title Associate Professor of Communication Arts Emeritus.

DR. SHARON GILLIARD-SMITH, Assistant Professor of Radiologic Sciences and Program Coordinator, who will retire July 1, 2026. Dr. Gilliard Smith holds a BHS (1996) and MHS (1999) from Armstrong Atlantic State University and a PhD from Valdosta State University (2023). She began her career as a clinician in 1978 and has served as a radiographer in small community hospitals, large health systems, and industrial settings where she began to work with students and develop a love of teaching. She began her academic career in 2007 as a Clinical Instructor of the Radiography concentration in the Radiologic Sciences degree program at what was then Armstrong Atlantic State University. During her time at what is now Georgia Southern, she has served the Radiography program as a Clinical Coordinator and is ending her career as Program Coordinator. Throughout her career she has demonstrated an unwavering dedication to the radiologic sciences profession, combining clinical expertise with a passion for teaching, curriculum development, and student advocacy, and her leadership has shaped a generation of radiography graduates. For her service to her profession and her students, Dr. Sharon Gilliard-Smith is deserving of the title Assistant Professor of Radiologic Sciences Emerita and Program Coordinator Emerita.

DR. JULIA GRIFFIN, Professor of English, who retired January 1, 2026, after teaching at Georgia Southern for 25 years. Dr. Griffin holds a BA from Cambridge University (1985) and an MPhil (1988) and PhD (1995) from the University of Oxford. She has published several articles on Renaissance literature in Shakespeare Survey and other journals, and two editions: one of selected poems of three seventeenth-century poets; one of the works of Anne Steele, an 18th-century Nonconformist writer, much of whose work was previously unpublished. She has given 40 conference presentations, in the US and abroad. For three years, she served on the Bainton Book Prize Committee for the Sixteenth-Century Society. As a contributor to CORD, the online Compendium of Renaissance Drama, she provided analyses of 14 plays. At Georgia Southern, she has taught 23 different courses, some at undergraduate and some at graduate level. She has co-advised our branch of Sigma Tau Delta, the international English Honors Society, for 25 years; for the last ten, she has served as assessor for the national organization's essay contests. She has served as member, chair, and co-chair of CURIO, the College of Arts and Humanities' annual symposium, for several years. In the last eight, she has published approximately a thousand poems and won awards for some. She has co-edited a collection of creative work inspired by pre-modern literature which will soon appear with Routledge. For her many contributions to her field and to the institution, Dr. Julia Griffin is deserving of the title Professor of English Emerita.

DR. MARLYNN GRIFFIN, Professor of Educational Psychology, who will retire July 1, 2026, after 34 years of service to Georgia Southern University. Dr. Griffin holds a BS (1984), an MS (1985), and a PhD (1992) from Florida State University. Dr. Griffin has demonstrated excellence in teaching, research, and service since accepting a position as Assistant Professor in 1992, with a strong commitment to both graduate and undergraduate education, supporting student success at all levels. Her teaching has focused on the psychological foundations of education, with particular emphasis on human learning, human development, and classroom assessment. In 1999, Dr. Griffin was awarded the College of Education (COE) Jack Miller Educator of the Year Award for Teaching, Scholarship, and Service, and in 1997 was recognized on Disability Awareness Day by The Students with Disabilities at Georgia Southern University for Outstanding Efforts on Their Behalf. Since 2002, Dr. Griffin has served as the coordinator for the COE Pre-Professional Block (PPB), carefully placing every sophomore education major in a setting that is consistent with their major and providing orientation and training to support student success in both PPB and future practicum placements. Dr. Griffin's research has focused on learning, classroom assessment, and more recently, social media use and teacher professionalism, with her early work in social media and professionalism hailed as innovative and practical. She has consistently published in top journals in her field and presented at national and international conferences, including the flagship conference for her discipline. For five years, she served as a CO-PI on an NSF Robert Noyce Scholarship grant. Dr. Griffin has a solid record of service beyond PPB, serving on the Statesboro High School's Teaching as a Profession Pathway Advisory Council for seven years, serving on the USG Area F redesign committee in the early 2000s, and working as an active member of the Trinity Christian School Board since 2001. She was instrumental in beginning the COE Living and Learning Community, has served as the Educational Psychology Unit Coordinator for 20 years, served on the Georgia Southern Judicial Board for four years, and has served on a variety of other committees at all levels within the University. For these and other contributions to the department, college, university, and profession, Dr. Marlynn Griffin is deserving of the title Professor of Educational Psychology Emerita.

DR. ALICE H. HALL, Professor and Program Coordinator of Human Development and Family Science, who will retire August 1, 2026. Dr. Hall earned her BS from Virginia Tech (1983), her MEd from James Madison University (1988), and her PhD from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro (1999). Throughout her career, Dr. Hall has always been committed to the care, education, and enrichment of young children and youth in childcare and youth development programs. She has served in several administrative roles during her tenure, including three-time Interim Director of the Georgia Southern Child Development Center. Dr. Hall was the co-investigator of a US Department of Education CCAMPIS Grant that was instrumental in adding infant and toddler childcare to Georgia Southern's former Family Life Center as well as providing low-cost childcare for our students. She has also served as Program Coordinator for Human Development and Family Science for eight years and has been recognized within Georgia and nationally for her expertise in early childhood education and youth development. From 2012-2015, she served on the Executive Board of the National After School Association (NAA), and she has served on four different task force work groups for the Georgia Department of Early Care and Learning (DECAL) to revise Workforce Knowledge and Competencies. Dr. Hall has 23 peer-reviewed publications. In addition, she has made numerous international, national, state, regional, and invited presentations to professional organizations such as NAA, NAEYC, GAEYC, and the GAASYD conference. Dr. Hall has mentored Honors students and undergraduate students on research projects, with her most recent publication (2025) including three undergraduate students who helped her examine the benefits of service learning in youth development programs. Dr. Hall started the HDFS/CHFD student organization in 2013 to inform future child and family development professionals of conference, internship, career, and civic engagement opportunities. Dr. Hall was a resident scholar for an Alternative Spring Break trip to Roanoke, Virginia in March 2019, serving as adult mentor for participating students. For 21 years, Dr. Hall has taught an HDFS class where students became the Lead Teacher in one of the preschool classrooms in the Child Development Center, providing experiential learning in a preschool classroom. Many of these HDFS students are now preschool teachers or working for DECAL. During her 26 years at Georgia Southern, Dr. Hall has won three service awards: from the School of Human Ecology (2013), the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences (2021) and the College of Health and Human Services (2006), all due to her commitment to serve the university and the community. She was elected to the Faculty Senate and the Academic Standards, Faculty Welfare, and University Athletic Committees and volunteered with Conversations with Professors, Day for Southern/ Love of Blue, and Operation Move-In. She has been a Faculty Marshall at Commencement and served on 14 major review committees as well as the Awards and Curriculum committees. Her service to the Statesboro community includes being a member of the Teal House, Boys and Girls Club, and Wesley Foundation boards at various times in the past 26 years. For service to the university, the college and department, her students, and community, Dr. Alice Hall is deserving of the title Professor of Human Development and Family Science Emerita and Program Coordinator Emerita.

DR. CHRISTOPHER E. HENDRICKS, Professor of History, who will retire August 1, 2026. Dr. Hendricks earned a BA from Wake Forest University (1986) and an MA (1987) and PhD (1991) from the College of William and Mary. Dr. Hendricks has more than three decades of distinguished service, nationally recognized scholarship, and exceptional contributions to the university and the broader public. A leading authority on the cultural landscapes, towns, and material life of the colonial South, Dr. Hendricks is the author of three major scholarly monographs—including The Colonial Towns of Piedmont North Carolina (University of Tennessee Press, 2024) and The Backcountry Towns of Colonial Virginia (2006)—and numerous peer-reviewed articles in leading journals of early American history and material culture. His career has been defined by academic excellence and innovation, especially in experiential and public-facing teaching that brings archaeology, architecture, foodways, and lived environments into the classroom. Beyond the university, Dr. Hendricks has made extraordinary contributions to public history through museum consulting, documentary production, historic preservation, and community partnerships across Coastal Georgia and the Southeast, earning multiple awards including Georgia Southern's Award for Distinguished Service to the Community and Historic Savannah Foundation's Volunteer of the Year honor. His leadership as Interim Department Head (2016–2018), his sustained mentoring of students and junior faculty, and his lifelong commitment to preserving and interpreting the region's cultural heritage exemplify service well beyond normal expectations, making him richly deserving of the title Professor of History Emeritus.

DR. CATHERINE T. JOHNSON, Associate Professor of German, who will retire July 1, 2026 after more than 31 years of dedicated service to Georgia Southern University. Dr. Johnson earned her BA (1986), MA (1990) and PhD (1994) from the University of Michigan. She joined the Department of Foreign Languages at Georgia Southern University in 1994 and enthusiastically began teaching undergraduates German. She created and implemented several innovative classroom games, stories, and poems to engage her students and help them learn to speak, read, write, and understand spoken German in an enjoyable way. In addition to the beginning and intermediate classes, she created and taught eight different advanced-level culture and conversation classes. It brought Dr. Johnson great joy to see her students grow more confident in their language skills and develop an appreciation for German cultural traditions and ways of thinking. Her research interests included the following: Race, Nationality, and Identity in German-speaking countries; POGIL (Process-Oriented Guided Inquiry Learning); SEL (Social Emotional Learning); Assessment and Second Language Acquisition. She incorporated these research interests into several courses. During her years at Georgia Southern, she was actively involved in student engagement, serving as advisor to the German Club and the National German Honor Society, Delta Phi Alpha. During and after the Covid-19 pandemic, she created online courses in which she met with several small groups of students via Zoom to ensure they received the conversational practice they needed to reach the necessary proficiency levels. Dr. Johnson often facilitated more than 15 different small groups each week, resulting in phenomenal student progress. For her dedication to the university and her students, Dr. Johnson is deserving of the title Associate Professor of German Emerita.

DR. JAMES KARNES, Associate Professor of Physical Therapy, who will retire August 1, 2026. Dr. Karnes earned his BS (1986) and his PhD (1993) from the University at Buffalo SUNY. He retires after more than 40 years in higher education, including the past decade at Armstrong State University and Georgia Southern University. During his career, he taught gross human anatomy and neuroscience to nearly 10,000 future health care professionals, including physicians, dentists, occupational therapists, and physical therapists. Dr. Karnes has authored and presented more than 70 scholarly publications and presentations. He has greatly valued his career in academia, particularly his final 10 years at Georgia Southern University, and remains deeply appreciative of the commitment and dedication demonstrated by his students. For his service to his profession, the university, and his students, Dr. Karnes is deserving of the title Associate Professor of Physical Therapy Emeritus.

DR. ROCHELLE BORNETT LEE, Associate Professor of Radiologic Sciences, who will retire July 1, 2026. Dr. Lee holds a BA from Ottawa University (1980), an MBA from Webster University (1997), and an EdD from Valdosta State University (2018). She began her career as a clinician in 1981 and has served as a nuclear medicine technologist in small community hospitals, private cardiology offices and major teaching institutions. She began her academic career in 2004 as the founding coordinator of the Nuclear Medicine concentration in the Radiologic Sciences degree program at what was then Armstrong Atlantic State University. During her time at what is now Georgia Southern University, she has taught 170 students and graduated 161 nuclear medicine students that she now calls colleagues. She is honored to have served the institution and students in her program for over twenty years and is grateful for the lasting friendships she has formed with colleagues along the way. For her service to her profession, the institution, and her students, Dr. Rochelle Bornett Lee is deserving of the title Associate Professor of Radiologic Sciences Emerita.

DR. RICHARD MASON, Associate Professor of Low Brass, who retired July 1, 2025. Dr. Mason earned his BA from West Virginia Wesleyan College (1979), his MA from California State University Northridge (1981), and his PhD from the University of Alabama (2004). He served Georgia Southern University as Low Brass instructor and Director of the Jazz Band since 2003. When he came to Georgia Southern University, he brought a wealth of experience as a professional trombone player in Los Angeles, where he played in prominent ensembles and recording sessions and served as a teacher in other university settings. His level of professional expertise elevated the status of Georgia Southern and raised the standard of teaching among our brass studios. During his nearly 22 years at Georgia Southern, the Jazz Band was invited to play for the Georgia Music Educators Association, the Savannah Jazz Festival, and at numerous high schools throughout the state, resulting in outstanding recruiting efforts for our growing music school. His concert audience is loyal and has grown accustomed to a high level of musical achievement from the Jazz Band. His trombone students consistently succeed in graduate schools and professional positions in performance and education. Dr. Mason has also served as Area Head for Brass in the School of Music and has led a team of instructors with administrative skill and excellence. He has served on numerous committees in the School of Music, the College of Arts and Humanities, and the University, including the chairmanship of several notable search committees. He has offered consistently excellent achievement in teaching, creative activity and service, making him deserving of the title Associate Professor of Low Brass Emeritus.

DR. JEFFERY ORVIS, Professor of Chemistry, who will retire June 1, 2026. Dr. Orvis holds a BS from Oakland University (1986) and a PhD from the University of Tennessee Knoxville (1991). Dr. Orvis has served as a Professor in the Department of Biochemistry, Chemistry, and Physics at Georgia Southern University since 2008. He has provided leadership to the department, serving two terms as Acting Department Chair between 2003 and 2009. Dr. Orvis has been active in both research and science education. He has secured significant funding to support instructional development, including a $100,000 National Science Foundation grant to enhance undergraduate education with FT-NMR spectroscopy and multiple “No Child Left Behind” Title II grants totaling over $120,000 to train high school teachers. His publication record spans inorganic chemistry and chemical education, with articles in journals such as Inorganic Chemistry Communications, New Journal of Chemistry, and The Chemical Educator, addressing topics from mixed-valent metal complexes to active learning strategies. Dr. Orvis has received numerous recognitions for his commitment to teaching excellence and professional service. Most recently, in 2023, he was awarded a Certificate in Effective College Instruction by the Association of College and University Educators. His prior honors include the Georgia Southern University Award for Excellence in Contributions to Instruction (2007–2008) and the Allen E. Paulson College of Science and Technology Excellence in Teaching Award (2007). Early in his career, he was recognized as an innovator in undergraduate science education through his acceptance into Project Kaleidoscope’s Faculty for the 21st Century in 1996. Dr. Orvis has had a significant impact on the chemistry and biochemistry programs over the years. A much-beloved instructor, he has touched numerous lives through his excellent work in the classroom teaching Inorganic Chemistry and Honors General Chemistry to countless students. For his contributions to the university, the discipline, and his students, Dr. Jeffrey Orvis is deserving of the title Professor of Chemistry Emeritus.

MS. JESSICA ORVIS, Associate Professor of Chemistry, who will retire from Georgia Southern University and the Department of Biochemistry, Chemistry, and Physics June 1, 2026. Ms. Orvis earned a BS from Vanderbilt University (1986) and an MS from the University of Tennessee Knoxville (1989). She started her career at Georgia Southern as an instructor, was promoted to Assistant Professor in 1993 and to Associate Professor in 2012. During her 35-year teaching career at Georgia Southern, she coordinated first-year chemistry courses and labs and was responsible for writing lab manuals and training both graduate and undergraduate laboratory assistants. She participated in developing and promoting several programs related to first year student success, such as the supplemental instruction program in chemistry, the early versions of the First Year Experience program, and Conversations with Professors. She was recognized in 2009 for excellence in teaching by the College and again in 2016 for excellence in contributions to instruction at the university level. She was an active participant in the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning and a faculty mentor to any faculty or student leader seeking support or advice. Her legacy at Georgia Southern is the impact she had on thousands of students in chemistry through her excellent teaching and commitment to success, all of which make Ms. Jessica Orvis deserving of the title Associate Professor of Chemistry Emerita.

DR. THOMAS PEARSALL, Professor of Piano, who will retire June 1, 2026. Dr. Pearsall has served Georgia Southern University as a member of the Keyboard Faculty and as Group Piano Coordinator since August of 1993. Every student who has matriculated in the Statesboro Campus has benefited from his expertise, patience, and commitment. As director of Group Piano, he has taught the necessary piano skills for career success to every student for whom piano was not their primary instrument. In every freshman and sophomore class, vocal and instrumental majors have grown into career readiness through his ability to help them establish basic keyboard skills. In addition, he has generously helped students as piano collaborator for their required recitals, and as accompanist for opera productions. He is consistently identified by alumni as one of the most impactful of their professors. For his dedication to the university and his students, Dr. Thomas Pearsall is deserving of the title Professor of Piano Emeritus.

DR. SHANDRA SHARMAN, Professor of Education, who will retire June 1, 2026, after 29 years of service to East Georgia State College, now Georgia Southern University, East Georgia Campus. Dr. Sharman received her BS from the University of Mississippi (1984), her MEd and MAT from East Tennessee State University (1992), and PhD from the University of Georgia (1997). A full-time faculty member since 2004, Dr. Sharman also served in a variety of administrative positions at East Georgia State College, including Vice President of Academic and Student Affairs, Chair of the Faculty Grievance Committee, and committee member supporting the Academic Policies, Comprehensive Program Review, and Quality Enhancement Plan committees. In her role as Vice President of Academic and Student Affairs, she worked closely with the University System of Georgia in several major academic initiatives, including Chancellor’s Learning Scholars, the Momentum Initiative, USG Mental Health Initiative, and Complete College Georgia, among others. Dr. Sharman was a key member of East Georgia’s SACSCOC decennial review team in 2021 and lead the Correll Scholars Program. Always eager to remain current in her field, she was the presenter or invited lecturer at 23 professional events. Dr. Sharman taught an array of classes, including the first-year Student Success course, Learning Support Reading, Regents’ Reading, and the pre-professional series in Education, Investigating Critical and Contemporary Issues in Education, Cultural Diversity, and Exploring Teaching and Learning. Dr. Sharman has been active in her local church and community, assisting with the Georgia Southern Museum’s, Feed the Mosasaur fundraiser, speaking to civic groups, serving on parent support groups for local schools, and serving as an invited guest at the Statesboro Scottish Society’s annual Robert Burns dinner. For her commitment to the institution, her students, and her community, Dr. Shandra Sharman is deserving of the title Professor of Education Emerita.

DR. DAVID SIKORA, Professor of Management, who will retire on June 1, 2026. Dr. Sikora holds a BS from Cornell University (1981) and a PhD from Florida State University (2012). During his 11 years with Georgia Southern University, Dr. Sikora has excelled in many areas. His scholarship includes 20 publications including 17 papers in peer-reviewed journals (seven of these in either A* or A rated journals) and three peer-reviewed book chapters, one of which was an invited chapter in a collection of chapters from some of the top human resources implementation scholars from across the globe. The impact of Dr. Sikora’s research is shown by his publications being cited approximately 1,600 times, with six publications cited over 100 times each, including one first-author publication with 353 citations and another publication with 306 citations. Dr. Sikora’s teaching is similarly strong. His student evaluations traditionally rank among the best in the Management Department. His students describe him as “one of the best professors” during their time at Georgia Southern, a professor who “truly cares about his students,” who is “the main reason for [their] success” at Georgia Southern. His service to the Department, the Parker College of Business, and the University is also consistently strong. He served on five committees at the College and University levels. These include chairing the University’s Faculty Research Committee and the College’s Graduate Curriculum Committee and serving as a member of the University’s Athletic Committee and the College’s Tenure and Promotion and Strategic Planning committees. He is on the Editorial Board for two of the world’s top human resource management journals (Human Resource Management and Human Resource Management Review). Dr. Sikora also served as a Guest Editor for European Management Review. Additionally, he served as a co-advisor for the Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM) student association which received recognition nine times during his tenure as being one of the best university SHRM chapters in the nation. He also served as an advisor for multiple Georgia Southern Honors Program students. Finally, his work has received numerous awards and recognition. These include Human Resource Management Review's Excellence in Reviewing Award, two Academy of Management Best Paper Awards, an Academy of Management Scholarly Achievement Award finalist, and the Parker College's Bank of America Faculty Award. For these and other contributions to the profession and the students and faculty of the department, college, and university, Dr. David Sikora has earned the title of Professor of Management Emeritus.

MS. STEPHANIE RADER SIPE, Professor of Accountancy, who will retire June 1, 2026. Ms. Sipe holds a BA from Wake Forest University (1987), an MSED from James Madison University (2005), and a JD from the University of Georgia (1990). Ms. Sipe has exemplified the highest standards of academic excellence, professional integrity, and institutional service throughout her distinguished career at Georgia Southern University. As Professor of Legal Studies in the Parker College of Business, she has devoted over two decades to the university, contributing through exceptional teaching, award-winning scholarship, and steadfast service to students, colleagues, and the broader academic community. Her teaching record reflects an extraordinary commitment to student learning, mentorship, and curricular innovation. A recipient of the W. A. & Emma Lou Crider Excellence in Teaching Award and multiple Faculty Fellowships, Ms. Sipe has consistently demonstrated excellence in pedagogy and student engagement. She has developed and taught a wide range of undergraduate and graduate courses, including those in the MAcc and MBA programs. Through these efforts, she has not only enhanced her students' learning experience but also raised the standards of instruction across the university. Ms. Sipe's research record is equally distinguished. Her scholarly work on employment law, whistleblower protections, and workplace diversity has earned national recognition, including the 2022 Hoerber Memorial Award for Best Paper from the Academy of Legal Studies in Business—the highest honor bestowed by that organization. Her research has been cited in the Harvard Business Review and widely presented at academic and professional conferences. In addition, her leadership as Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Legal Studies in Business and her ongoing role as a reviewer for multiple journals have further enhanced Georgia Southern University's visibility and reputation. Ms. Sipe has chaired and contributed to numerous university, college, and departmental committees. Her professionalism has strengthened the field of legal studies while promoting Georgia Southern's commitment to inclusive excellence and academic leadership. Her record of sustained and distinguished accomplishment in teaching, research, and service fully embodies the ideals of Georgia Southern University, making her deserving of the title Professor of Accountancy Emerita.

DR. JAMES M. SMITH, JR., Professor of English, who will retire August 1, 2026. Dr. Smith holds a BA from Berry College (1984) and an MA (1985) and PhD (1989) from Vanderbilt University. Dr. Smith began teaching at Armstrong State College in fall 1990. He served as an editor with Southern Poetry Review 2002-2013, during which time he published Don't Leave Hungry: Fifty Years of Southern Poetry Review (U. of Arkansas Press, 2009). From 2013 until the present time, he has worked as the Editor of the prestigious journal, a position he will continue after retirement. His teaching and scholarship focused on American literature, especially American poetry, as well as creative writing in poetry. For his dedication to the discipline, Dr. Smith is deserving of the title Professor of English Emeritus.

DR. LINA B. SOARES, Professor of Middle Grades and Secondary Education, who will retire August 1, 2026. Dr. Soares holds a BA from the University of North Carolina Greensboro (1974), an MS from National University (1993), and a PhD from the University of North Carolina Charlotte (2009). Dr. Soares has consistently excelled in teaching, scholarship, and service. In 2014, Dr. Soares received the Jack Miller Top Educator of the Year Award, an award bestowed on a College of Education faculty member who has excelled in teaching, scholarship, and service. In 2015, Dr. Soares was awarded the Excellence in Contributions to Instruction from Georgia Southern University, and in that same year, the university nominated Dr. Soares for U.S. Professor of the Year, an award sponsored by The Council for Advancement and Support of Education and the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. Dr. Soares' scholarship includes co-authoring three books, publishing over 40 research- and practitioner-oriented articles, and a distinguished record of refereed presentations at international, national, and regional conferences. Dr. Soares' instructional contributions include focusing on effective curriculum and instructional practices for pre-service and in-service teachers, literacy development for all subject-matter content, gifted education, and the teacher as a leader and instructional specialist. She served as program director for the Middle Grades BSEd, the Teaching & Learning EdS, and Gifted In-Field endorsement programs. Dr. Soares has championed student success by chairing and serving on doctoral dissertation committees and education specialist thesis committees. Dr. Soares served as the editor of the Georgia Journal of Literacy, to promote knowledge, pedagogy, and effective research in support of literacy across all grade levels and content areas for readers. She served on the University Institutional Research Board and co-chaired the University Undergraduate Curriculum Committee during the time of consolidation between the present campuses of Statesboro and Armstrong. Dr. Soares further served as a member of the University Faculty Senate and the Faculty Senate Executive Committee. For her many contributions to the institution, to her field, and to her students, Dr. Lina B. Soares is deserving of the title Professor of Middle Grades and Secondary Education Emerita.

DR. BRENT THARP, Director of the Georgia Southern University Museum, who will retire July 1, 2026. Dr. Tharp holds a BA from Indiana University (1986) and an MA (1988) and PhD (1996) from the College of William and Mary. With 26 years of service, he is the longest serving Director of the Georgia Southern University Museum. In his tenure, he has overseen the museum's significant expansion; increased academic integration and continued professionalization; and provided innovative community service. He expanded the cultural history collections and permanent exhibits, assembling a collection of regional and national significance. He expanded the mission to incorporate the Gretsck collection of musical instruments. He coordinated the increased integration of the collections, exhibits, and operations into university academics, ensuring students served as curators, educators, designers, and other roles of professional development in their fields of study. Dr. Tharp has served as a vital partner, officer, and board member collaborating with community organizations, such as the Bulloch County Historical Society, the Statesboro Convention and Visitors Bureau, the Willow Hill Heritage and Renaissance Center, and others to preserve local history and heritage, promote regional development, and provide Georgia Southern students with research and service opportunities. He has overseen the museum's successful accreditation by the American Alliance of Museums in 2010 and 2025 and served as a leader in state and national professional organizations as a board member and officer in the Georgia Association of Museums and the Association of Academic Museums and Galleries, and as an assessment and accreditation peer reviewer for the American Alliance of Museums. For his many contributions to the institution, his profession, and his community, Dr. Brent Tharp is deserving of the title Director of the University Museum Emeritus.

DR. MARY VILLEPONTEAUX, Professor of English, who will retire August 1, 2026. She received her BA (1979) from College of Charleston, her MA from the University of Sussex (1981), and her PhD from Louisiana State University (1990). Dr. Villeponteaux taught at the University of Southern Mississippi from 1989 until she came to Georgia Southern University in 2006. She published numerous essays on early modern English literature, one of which was awarded the International Spenser Society's Isabel MacCaffrey Prize for the best article on Spenser published in 1993. She also wrote about Queen Elizabeth I and the political culture of early modern England, including a book entitled The Queen's Mercy: Gender and Judgment in Representations of Elizabeth I (Palgrave Macmillan 2014). A long-time member of the Queen Elizabeth I Society, she was awarded the Agnes Strickland Prize for the best paper given at their annual conference on three occasions. During her academic career, she worked at various administrative jobs, such as Graduate Director of English for ten years at the University of Southern Mississippi, interim Department Chair of Literature and Philosophy at Georgia Southern from 2014-2016, and Graduate Director of English at Georgia Southern from 2020-2022. In her 37 years as a college professor, she enjoyed teaching everything from developmental writing to graduate seminars on Renaissance literature, as well as working individually with students on thesis and dissertation projects. For her many contributions to her discipline and the institution and for her enthusiastic support of her students, Dr. Villeponteaux is deserving of the title Professor of English Emerita.

FREEDOM II

Freedom II is a female Southern Bald Eagle and was introduced as Georgia Southern's second live eagle mascot on Nov. 15, 2025, at Allen E. Paulson Stadium.

Less than a year old, weak and unable to sustain flight, local experts at the Audubon Center for Birds of Prey, located in Maitland, Florida, determined Freedom II had West Nile Virus (WNV). The virus can be deadly, damaging the nervous system and producing a variety of symptoms.

Nurtured back to health, it was determined that the virus had compromised the young female eagle's vision. Regaining her sight was uncertain and would take time, if it were to happen at all. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service entrusted the care of the eagle to the team at Georgia Southern University's Center for Wildlife Education.

Steve Hein, executive director of the University's Center for Wildlife Education and Lamar Q Ball, Jr. Raptor Center, began working with Freedom II to assess her visual acuity. Her initial training consisted of trust-building exercises and behavior shaping. While progress was slow, he worked with her over the course of several years, hoping for improved vision so that one day she could become Freedom's successor and realize the goal of flying at Paulson Stadium. During this time, her vision sharpened and training intensified, but it remained uncertain if she could successfully follow Freedom's path.

In April 2025, Freedom II underwent a re-evaluation of her vision. The damage to the optic nerves had mended and she was cleared! With renewed excitement, her training is underway to honor Freedom's legacy with the hope that, in time, she will soar over Eagle Nation.

Freedom, the University's first live Bald Eagle mascot, served for more than 20 years as an ambassador for Georgia Southern, wildlife and as a symbol of our nation. Through the wildlife center, people of all ages could visit Freedom and learn about wildlife, care and conservation. He inspired thousands annually at Georgia Southern sporting events, the St. Patrick's Day parade in Savannah, commencements, community events and other appearances across the State of Georgia and the nation.
